

1. Legal Strength Rating

High – Three separate, legally valid arguments show that BESCOM breached the mandatory 24-hour restoration window, is liable for statutory compensation, and had clear notice of the fault. The claim is therefore strong enough to be pursued before the Consumer Grievance Redressal Forum (CGRF) and, if necessary, the Karnataka Electricity Ombudsman.

4. Applicable Laws (India)

- KERC (Standards of Performance) Regulations, 2021 – Regulation 5
- KERC (Compensation) Regulations, 2021 – Regulation 7(3)
- Electricity Act, 2003 – Section 42(5) read with Section 57
- Consumer Protection Act, 2019 – Section 2(1)(r) and Section 79 (forum jurisdiction)

5. Identified Weaknesses

- No documentary proof yet showing exact outage start/stop time stamped by BESCO.
- Wage-loss evidence (employer letter, tax returns) not yet collated.
- No copies of follow-up e-mails/acknowledgments after 3 March.
- Consumer account number missing in grievance text.

6. How to Strengthen Your Case

1. Log in to BESCO portal and download the outage history for your consumer account; print the page.
2. Ask your employer for a letter certifying work-from-home policy and the exact salary deduction for 7 days; attach payslips.
3. File an RTI application to BESCO requesting the “outage log” and “restoration report” for your area between 2-9 March 2026.
4. Keep a scanned copy of every document; submit only attested photocopies to the forum.
5. Submit the complaint in duplicate at the local BESCO CGRF office and obtain a stamped receipt; appeal to the Ombudsman if no order within 30 days.
